

Public Announcement

Through a collaborative program with the North Hampton Library, the Conservation Commission will be hosting its first lecture of its new Guest Speakers series, Protecting our Town's Future: Preserving and Conserving our Resources. It will be held on Tuesday, April 14 at 7:00 PM in the library. Please plan to attend, since this is the inaugural presentation.

The guest speaker will be Ms. Sandra Crystall, Senior Resources Manager, Wetlands Bureau, NH Department of Environmental Resources. She will be speaking about the importance of wetlands protection and what our Town can do to protect our water resources. This presentation will be open to the public, so feel free to share this announcement with friends and neighbors.

In the upcoming months, the Speakers Series will feature prominent government and private experts from the Seacoast area on topics such as protecting drinking water aquifers, conservation land stewardships, regulatory oversight, integrating conservation into Planning and Zoning and preservation of open space.

Through effective public information such as this speakers series, our goal is to stimulate public participation in protecting our wetlands and drinking water resources.
